TASTING NOTES

A deep violet hue hints at what's to come with this Cabernet—juicy blackberry, roasted cherry and vibrant dark plum acidity. French oak weaves in layers of mocha, dark chocolate and savory baking spices. Spicy, rounded tannins lend a concentrated mouthfeel and an elegant, lingering finish.

WINEMAKING

Atlas Peak is a celebrated micro-AVA with the larger Napa Valley AVA. This wine comes from a single vineyard above the fog line that experiences a significant diurnal shift, very warm days and very cool nights. This allows the grapes to ripen fully while retaining high acidity. Known for its volcanic, rocky and well-drained soils that produce small, concentrated grape clusters, Atlas Peak produces Cabernet Sauvignons that impress enthusiasts across the globe.

The 2021 vintage in Atlas Peak saw late winter rains refresh soils after drought, followed by mild spring and summer conditions that allowed steady ripening. High elevation and volcanic soils, paired with cool nights, preserved bright acidity and concentrated flavors. Smaller berries from lower yields intensified tannins, requiring precise winemaking to harmonize structure. The wines showcase bold blackberry, cassis, and graphite notes, framed by polished tannins and a mineral edge. This balance of power and elegance highlights Atlas Peak's mountain character, with cellaring potential to match.
